

PHOTO CAPTIONS, page 1 of 3

1. Achilles Family

Sixteen-year-old Cathryn Achilles is surrounded by her family, father Jim, mother Deanna and brother Robbie on Day six of the A-T CureTour in Fresno, California. Cathryn was diagnosed with ataxia-telangiectasia when she was eight years old.
Photo Credit: Meagan Pfeltz

2. Tim Borland & Cathryn Achilles

Endurance runner Tim Borland talks with Cathryn Achilles who is battling the rare terminal disease ataxia-telangiectasia. Cathryn inspired Tim to set out to run 63 consecutive marathons to raise awareness and funding to find a cure.
Photo Credit: Deborah Carr

3. Alyssa Wood I know

Alyssa Wood raises her hand to answer a question in her fifth grade reading class. While the eleven-year-old is wheelchair bound, has difficulty speaking and writing, cognitively she performs at grade level alongside her peers.
Photo Credit: Feat Productions

4. Alyssa Mealtime

John Wood sits with his daughter Alyssa at the dinner table; meal times take longer with kids who have ataxia-telangiectasia as the muscles that allow them to swallow become progressively more difficult to control with age.
Photo Credit: Feat Productions

5. Jake Lesperance

Jake Lesperance sits on his father's lap during a monthly IVIG treatment. At 3-months old, Jake was the youngest diagnosed case of A-T known to those in the medical community.
Photo Credit: Feat Productions

6. Max Lesperance

Three-year-old Max Lesperance has his blood pressure taken during one of his monthly IVIG treatments to boost his immune system.
Photo Credit: Feat Productions

7. Lesperance Hospital Visit

Parents Mark and Laura Lesperance of Neenah, Wisconsin hold and sit alongside their boys Max and Jake during one of their monthly IVIG treatments at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Appleton, Wisconsin.
Photo Credit: Feat Productions

8. Tim Borland Profile

Endurance Runner Tim Borland on day 27 of his 63-day journey in Littleton, Colorado ready start the Fun Run with hundreds of participants.
Photo Credit: BreAnn Mueller

9. Mike-on-a-Bike

Mike Durant pedals his bike pulling a trailer containing water, electrolytes, massage stick and other supplies needed to fuel and support endurance runner Tim Borland on his 63-day marathon streak. Durant pedaled alongside Borland for the duration of the tour.
Photo Credit: Meagan Pfeltz

FEAT: 63 Marathons in 63 Days

PHOTO CAPTIONS, page 2 of 3

10. Mike Durant

Mike Durant layers his clothing and dons a stocking cap in the higher elevations of Colorado Springs, Colorado on day 26 of 63 of the A-T CureTour.

Photo Credit: BreAnn Mueller

11. Day 1 Anaheim

Supporters gather around runner Tim Borland at the completion of Day 1 of the A-T CureTour. Borland ran 26.2 miles, finishing the second half of the race at Disneyland's Half Marathon with dozens of A-T Children's Project supporters who also ran to raise funds for the non-profit organization.

Photo Credit: BreAnn Mueller

12. Day 8 Santa Monica, CA

Runner Tim Borland pushes a mobility-jogging-stroller along the boardwalk in Santa Monica on Day 8 of 63 of the A-T CureTour. The stroller represents A-T children's loss of their ability to walk.

Photo Credit: BreAnn Mueller

13. Day 16 Albuquerque NM

Runner Tim Borland describes how he feels post-run to Director Deborah Carr and Cinematographer Bradley Carr on Day 16 of 63 in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Photo Credit: Meagan Pfeltz

14. Day 17 Portales, NM

There is still a long road ahead for runner Tim Borland and support coach Mike Durant on Day 17 of 63 in Portales, New Mexico.

Photo Credit: Feat Productions

15. Day 27 Littleton CO

Runner Tim Borland approaches the finish line on Day 27 in Littleton, Colorado pushing Ben Ward, he and his twin sister Becca both have A-T. Also pictured is Katie Leasure pushed by her Uncle.

Photo Credit: BreAnn Mueller

16. Day 34 Jenison, MI

Runner Tim Borland gets lost in the pack of participants running in support of Kate and Olivia Veldink in Jenison, Michigan on Day 34 of 63 of the A-T CureTour.

Photo Credit: Feat Productions

17. Day 52 Charleston, SC Rain

Tim Borland and supporters with the Charleston Running Club don't let the pounding rain, thunder and lightning deter them from completing the 26.2-mile route through the streets of Charleston, South Carolina on Day 52 of the A-T CureTour.

Photo Credit: Feat Productions

18. Day 58 Montreal

Dozens of Dante Elementary schoolchildren run alongside Tim Borland on the last few laps of his only international stop in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. The students are schoolmates of Antonio Manuele who is battling A-T.

Photo Credit: Meagan Pfeltz

FEAT: 63 Marathons in 63 Days

PHOTO CAPTIONS, page 3 of 3

19. Day 63 New York

Tim Borland approaches mile 24 of the New York City Marathon where supporters and A-T children have gathered to cheer him on and witness his achievement of running 63 consecutive marathons to raise awareness and funding to help them find a cure.

Photo Credit: Meagan Pfeltz

20. Cinematographer Bradley Carr

Cinematographer Bradley Carr on location filming the Los Angeles Marathon.

Photo Credit: Feat Productions

21. Deborah & Bradley Carr

Feat Productions Producers Deborah and Bradley Carr on location in Birmingham, Alabama on Day 47 of the A-T CureTour.

Photo Credit: Meagan Pfeltz